

NYT > BUSINESS > ECONOMY

THE GLOBAL ECONOMY'S WARNING SIGNALS ARE BROKEN

Patricia Cohen on February 3, 2026

From markets to spending to debt, usually reliable indicators that forecast where the economy is headed are proving deeply fallible.

Read more ...

JOBS REPORT DELAYED BECAUSE OF PARTIAL SHUTDOWN

Ben Casselman on February 2, 2026

The report, scheduled for Friday, would have provided data on job growth, unemployment and wages in January.

Read more ...

MINNESOTA ECONOMY SUFFERS AS I.C.E. CRACKS DOWN

Lydia DePillis on February 2, 2026

Immigration raids have scared off customers and workers, a pattern repeated in other cities where federal officials have arrived in force.

Read more ...

WHO IS TRUMP'S NEW FED CHAIR PICK?

Colby Smith, Melanie Bencosme, Sutton Raphael, June Kim and Thomas Vollkommer on January 30, 2026

President Trump announced Kevin Warsh as his nominee to succeed Jerome H. Powell as chair of the Federal Reserve. Our reporter Colby Smith explains why the choice matters for the economy.

Read more ...

TRUMP PICKS KEVIN WARSH AS NEXT FED CHAIR

Colby Smith, Tony Romm and Ben Casselman on January 30, 2026

If confirmed by the Senate, Kevin M. Warsh, a former governor at the central bank, will replace Jerome H. Powell, whose term as chair ends in May.

Read more ...

TRUMP'S TRADE POLICIES SORT MANUFACTURERS INTO WINNERS AND LOSERS

Lydia DePillis and Ana Swanson on January 29, 2026

Tariffs have protected some companies, but more often they've hit the parts and materials many factories need to make finished goods.

Read more ...

A RUG MAKER WITHSTOOD ONE YEAR OF TRUMP'S TARIFFS. NEW CHALLENGES LOOM.

Sydney Ember on January 29, 2026

Loloi stockpiled rugs from India, Turkey and other countries in advance, but inventory is running low.

Read more ...

WHAT TO KNOW ABOUT THE FED DECISION.

Ana Swanson on January 28, 2026

Read more ...

TAKEAWAYS FROM THE FED MEETING

Ben Casselman on January 28, 2026